Responding to housing: checklist 13

Woningzoeker

The Housing Finder offers opportunities to live both within and outside Amsterdam. Outside Amsterdam, you stand a reasonable chance in regions where waiting times are shorter. You can also enter home lotteries in many municipalities. De Woningzoeker contains all kinds of tips.
Note: The contents of De Woningzoeker is a snapshot, links and information may be out of date.
The municipality and network partners also supplement this document based on experiences.

Do you have any comments or additions?
We are happy to receive them!
You can e-mail them to

How do you find a home if you are 55 or older?

Will you currently or soon not have a home (anymore) and you are 55 years or older? Given your age, you need not remain homeless. If you look outside Amsterdam, you will quickly find a home. Moving to another municipality is something you should seriously consider. The alternative, for example, is being in the shelter for years with a letter address, but with no prospect of a solution.

Amsterdam residents are always moving to other places. Generally, most people like that switch. Living in a smaller municipality has many advantages. Homes tend to be slightly larger and neighbourhoods a little less crowded. Moving is a big step, but it offers you a chance to rebuild your life.

Senior housing
Senior housing is available for people over 55 who do not need care. You can respond to this via WoningNet. In some municipalities, people aged 45 years or older can get a senior home. You do not need an indication. As a rule, the waiting time for senior housing is quite short.
Much shorter than for other social housing.
In Amsterdam, people are only really more likely to get social housing if they are 65 or older.
In other municipalities, over-55s find housing within a month. And sometimes even faster!
Sometimes you may have another home immediately.

At woonzorg.nl you can see what kind of senior housing is on offer. It also tells you which housing sites to register with. For more information on care homes outside Amsterdam, please call 088 921 0310.

Tip 1: search broadly
Register with various housing sites. In the appendices, you will find an overview of all housing sites in the Netherlands. It lists which municipalities the homes listed on these sites are in. If you start searching on multiple housing sites, you are more likely to find a home quickly.

Tip 2: check your details
When you register, you provide all kinds of details. Check these details carefully. Is everything correct? Under the 'target group' heading, only tick senior housing. Click 'I have checked my details and agree' and then click 'respond'. Finally, check if you have responded by clicking on 'my responses' above the black bar and then click on 'current responses'. If you see senior housing here, you have responded correctly.

Tip 3: stay registered to WoningNet
Not sure if you would like to live in another municipality? Then consider that homelessness is worse.  If you acccept a house outside Woningnet Amsterdam region, you will keep your waiting points and search points in WoningNet Regio Amsterdam. While living comfortably, you can keep looking for a home in Amsterdam. For every year of registration with WoningNet, you get 1 more waiting point. For every month that you respond to at least four social rental homes in Amsterdam, you will receive an extra search point.

You are young and looking for a home

Registering with WoningNet
As soon as you turn 18, you may register with WoningNet Regio Amsterdam. Have you not done so yet? Then do it as soon as possible.
Social housing is distributed on the basis of a point system. There are waiting points, search points, starting points and situation points.
You get 1 waiting point for every year you are registered with WoningNet. So pay the renewal fees every year.

Get search points
You earn 1 search point for every month you respond to at least 4 social rental properties.
You may still not have enough points to get the property, but you are increasing your chances.
You can earn a maximum of 12 search points.
If you don't respond at all in a month, you lose 1 search point. So make sure you keep searching actively.

Search broadly
You also increase your chances by registering with multiple housing networks. At the back, you will find an overview of all housing sites in the Netherlands. Each housing site shows in which municipality the properties on offer are located.
If you move to another municipality outside the city region Amsterdam, you will retain your waiting points and search points for a home in Amsterdam. So your chances do not diminish.

Youth housing
Housing associations offer youth housing so that young people have a better chance of finding a home. You then sign a temporary lease for five years. We also call this a youth contract. With youth housing, you save extra waiting points with WoningNet. This is because your waiting points do not expire if you accept youth housing. This means you will have more waiting points to look for another home later, such as a bigger house for a family.

There are youth homes for the age groups 18 to 22 and 23 to 27. The advertisement on WoningNet states which age group the home is for. The maximum age limit also applies to the co-registrant. If you are 22 years or 27 years old, then you have the most waiting points and stand a better chance of getting a youth home within that category. More information can be found on WoningNet.

amsterdam.mijndak.nl/serviceoverzicht

After five years, your lease ends. Some housing corporations are willing in certain situations to extend a youth contract by (up to) 2 years.
Six months before the end of the youth contract, you can request 10 starting points from vraagpuntenaan.nl. Thanks to starting points, you have a better chance of finding another home.
You only get starting points if you have responded to housing ads the mandatory number of times.

Priority for Amsterdam youth
Young people up to 27 years old with ties to Amsterdam will be given priority for youth rental housing in the City of Amsterdam. You have ties to Amsterdam if you have lived in the municipality continuously for at least six years in the past 10 years and are registered in the BRP. These can be different addresses.

The priority must be established. You do this by creating a MyQii. Read more about it on the municipality's site.

amsterdam.nl/wonen-bouwen-verbouwen/woonruimte-vinden/voorrang-jongeren woning-aanvragen

Student or campus contract

If you are on a full-time education programme, you are usually not eligible for youth housing. However, you can rent a home in Amsterdam, Diemen or Haarlem with a student or campus contract. You can find these homes on studentenwoningweb.nl or via room.nl. You can register there from your 16th via studentenwoningweb.nl and there are offers daily. An example of living space for students is Campus Diemen next to Diemen Zuid station with 900 apartments. There is a waiting list for this campus. With a student or campus contract, you rent a place to live for the duration of your study programme (full-time MBO, HBO or WO). You simply keep your waiting points.

Without registration period chance through lottery homes

1 in 4 youth homes is assigned by lottery. You can respond to up to two lottery homes every week. In addition, you can also respond twice to the social rental homes offered in the usual way. Click here to see the offer. So you can also respond to a youth home near Amsterdam. At WoningNet Regio Midden-Holland, young mothers up to 30 can also respond to the youth offer. You then get an indefinite contract (= a permanent contract).

Private-sector rental with friend

In the private-sector rental, it is easier to get housing. Although you need a (much) higher income for that. If you are going to rent a private sector home together with a friend both your incomes will count towards the income test. Read more about renting a private-sector home here. If you already rent a home or room with Ymere, you will be given priority for a private-sector home with Ymere. Tick this option to have a better chance. You can find the supply of private-sector homes on the following websites: Rooftrack, Vesteda, Ymere, Eigen Haard, Rochdale, Stadgenoot or De Alliantie.

Housing with motivation letter

There are also several projects where you can get housing by writing a motivation letter. Your length of registration will then not be considered. Via Vooruit you don't pay rent, but commit at least 10 hours a week socially to the neighbourhood in exchange for housing. Academy of the City offers a comparable housing concept: Springlevende wijk (Vibrant neighbourhood).

Stichting SOlink is all about connecting students with the elderly. The foundation puts students in touch with elderly people offering affordable rooms for rent. The foundation rents the older person's room and then loans it to the student. Both the elderly and students can register via the Stichting SOlink's website.

You can live with status holders through various projects. You write a motivation letter about how you want to help your neighbours and then you get to live in these projects: Startblok Elzenhagen, Startblok Riekerhaven, Spark Village, Stek Oost, Set IJburg or, for example, Karmijn.

Onder de Pannen Jongvolwassenen

De Regenboog Groep, together with housing associations, benefit agencies and the City of Amsterdam, has launched the 'Onder de Pannen Jongvolwassenen' project. Homeless young people aged 18-27 who are self-reliant can apply for this project. You can rent a bedroom from an individual for up to a year. So you will be moving in with someone. This can be done while retaining benefits and allowances. You can register via onderdepannen.nl or call 020 531 7600.

Young families

Young people with child(ren) are not eligible for youth housing with a youth contract. One exception is the New Beginnings project of housing association Stadgenoot.

Increase your chances through influence

There are regular opportunities to improve your chances through influence. For example, there is a youth panel called Uplift.
This group actively reflects on housing issues. The group also actively contributes proposals to improve the position of young people in the housing market. Here, young people set the agenda and offer advice, and policy proposals can emerge in co-creation with policymakers.

Home exchange (or room exchange)

Do you already have a room or accommodation? Then home exchange could also be an interesting option. Despite the fact that you might prefer to live in Amsterdam, it is still useful to look outside Amsterdam as well. Because waiting times are shorter outside Amsterdam, you are more likely to find a home. Moreover, after a year, you can try to swap that property with someone in Amsterdam.

Other housing projects for young people:

- Stepstone by Lieven de Key (Zuiderkerk Prize 2024)
- Lariks & Mahonie by Lieven de Key (shared homes)
- OurDomain (private landlord)
- Set Wonen by De Alliantie
- De Tafelberg by De Alliantie
- Anti-squatting homes.
- Rent through housing associations with their own offer.
- Co-living concepts.
- Living through your education or internship
- Tiny Houses and housing cooperatives
- Internationally focused student offerings (also for Dutch youth)
- Platforms such as: HousingAnywhere, Uniplaces, Spotahome

Do not apply for an urgency certificate through commercial agencies

There are companies that offer to apply for an urgency certificate for you.
You pay those companies for that. The City of Amsterdam does not work with these agencies and does not recognise or support such agencies. The Consumer and Market Authority (ACM) also warns against deception by such agencies. So apply for the urgency declaration from us yourself.

Registration and responding

Registering with Woonmatch is free and can easily be done online. After registering, you can respond to homes that match your profile, such as income, age and family composition.
Homes are posted daily and remain available to respond to for 7 days. woonmatchwaterland.nl
For more information or to register, visit woonmatchwaterland.nl.

Urgency guide – City of Amsterdam info

The Urgency Guide Amsterdam is an online tool from the City of Amsterdam that allows you to check whether you qualify for an urgency declaration or occupational priority when looking for a social rental home. An urgency declaration gives priority on the regular waiting list in exceptional situations, such as imminent homelessness or serious medical conditions.

How it works

Completing the Urgency Guide

Visit amsterdam.urgentiewijzer.nl and answer a series of questions about your personal situation. Based on this, you will get an indication of whether you might qualify for urgency or occupational priority.

Schedule consultation

If the questionnaire shows that you may be eligible for urgency, you can request a free telephone consultation. During this interview, your situation will be discussed and you will be given information about the documents required for the application.
Please note: due to high demand, there may be a waiting time for this interview.

Submit application

After the consultation, you can submit the official application for a declaration of urgency or occupational priority. To do so, you must be registered as a home seeker with DAK Regio Amsterdam. During the application, you will need your registration details to log in.

Conditions for urgency

In order to qualify for an urgency declaration, you must meet the following criteria:

- You are at least 18 years old.
- You have Dutch nationality, an EU passport or a valid residence permit.
- You have been continuously registered in Amsterdam's Basic Registration of Persons (BRP) for at least four years.
- Your taxable annual income is less than €49,669 (single household) or €54,847 (multi-person household).
- You can live independently and do not stay in a care facility.

Get help from !WOON or the Neighbourhood Team

They know the rules well, are happy to help, and can also help with paperwork.

- !WOON – free help with housing problems wooninfo.nl
- Amsterdam Neighbourhood Team – near you buurtteamamsterdam.nl

Be registered with WoningNet

Even if it takes a long time, you should start getting points now.
woningnetregioamsterdam.nl
Tip: Also check "lottery homes" – sometimes you can respond faster, even without much waiting time.

Actively look for temporary or alternative housing options

- Temporary rental / anti-squatting: Camelot, Ad Hoc, Villex
- Home-sharing / resident landlord arrangements
- Small-scale housing projects or residential groups (such as De Warren or Startblok Elzenhagen)

Samen in 1 huis

Samen in 1 Huis connects young room seekers with elderly people who have a spare room and are looking for some company. The mission here is to reduce housing shortage among young people and loneliness among the elderly. This way, we create a win-win situation for young and old.

Resident landlord rental

Many Amsterdam residents have space to spare in their homes. As a home seeker, you can (temporarily) live with someone. If you pay rent for this, then this is called resident landlord rental. You rent a room and share common facilities with the main resident, such as the kitchen, toilet and bathroom.

Resident landlord rental does not require a licence in Amsterdam. Because as a live-in tenant, you enter into a contract with the main tenant, some (favourable) regulations apply:

- The main resident and you will usually not lose benefits or allowances. There is also a good arrangement for Amsterdam residents on welfare benefits who rent out a room. The main resident and you will not lose benefits such as the AOW, WIA, Wajong and WW and it does NOT affect the rent allowance, care allowance, childcare allowance or child benefit budget. Find more information at 'What do I need to know if I want to rent out a room in the home I live in myself' Resident landlord rental Rijksoverheid.nl.
- There is also a good arrangement for Amsterdam residents on welfare benefits who rent out a room. For this, the resident landlord can contact the client supervisor.
- The maximum rent is set by law. The average rent for resident landlord rentals in Amsterdam is between €400 and €650 per month. The resident landlord usually does not pay tax on this income.
- With resident landlord rental, a probationary period of 9 months applies. This means that as a live-in tenant, you do not accrue rental rights. However, a three-month notice period does apply to resident landlord rentals. Most resident landlord rentals in Amsterdam are no longer than 12 months.
- Resident landlord rental is also possible in a (social) rental home. However, you must have permission from the owner-landlord, such as the housing association.

All information on resident landlord rentals can be found on the Hospitawijzer. Check amsterdam.nl/hospitaverhuur for the conditions. You will also find intermediary organisations that can help you find a place to live.

You can also approach people in your network yourself and tell them about resident landlord rental opportunities.
